

D 5505

D 5506

HADDON SENTENCED TO PRISON

Claimed Mother Secretly Married Duke Of Clarence

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Clarence Guy Haddon, at one time a resident of Shanghai, who was bound over last January for three years after pleading guilty to a charge of uttering letters demanding money from H. M. the King, with menaces, was to-day sentenced at the Old Bailey to 12 months' imprisonment in the second division for breach of his recognizances.

When the trial opened on January 11 last year, Haddon claimed that he had witnesses to say that his mother had been secretly married to the Duke of Clarence. He was bound over for three years on his own surety of £100 and two sureties of £100 each.

In winding up the case, the judge analyzed the evidence at length. He asserted that "this is a matter between yourself and another man. We do not give consideration to persons or personalities." He exhorted the accused to "get this maggot out of your brain."—
Reuter.

File
JMS

D 5503

Date 18 / 1 / 35
Rt 8

R E U T E R

HADDON SENTENCED TO PRISON TERM

CLAIMED MOTHER HAD BEEN SECRETLY MARRIED
TO THE DUKE OF CLARENCE

London, Jan. 17

Clarence Guy Haddon, at one time a resident of Shanghai, who was bound over last January for three years after pleading guilty to a charge of uttering letters demanding money from H. M. the King, with menaces, was to-day sentenced at the Old Bailey to 12 months' imprisonment in the second division for breach of his recognisances.

When the trial opened on January 11, last year, Haddon claimed that he had witnesses to say that his mother had been secretly married to the Duke of Clarence. He was bound over for three years on his own surety of £100 and two sureties of £100 each.

In winding up the case, the judge analysed the evidence at length. He asserted that "this is a matter between yourself and another man. We do not give consideration to persons or personalities." He exhorted the accused to "get this maggot out of your brain."-Reuter

18/1/35

jbc/ln

$2. Have we anything in file about him?
JMG

DE 80

File herewith

SAB 1871

File
JMG

1035

THE CHINA PRESS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1933

Jailed Briton Claims To Be Son Of Royalty

Ex-Shanghai Man Held For Threatening King In Plan To Get Money

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(Reuters).—Mr. Clarence Guy Gordon Haddon, formerly of H.M. Office of Works, China, was formally remanded into custody till December 4 when he appeared today before the Bow Street Police Court on a charge of demanding money by menaces from the King.

Bail was refused.

Giving evidence, Chief-Inspector Foster stated that when told of the charge, Mr. Haddon replied: "This is the only thing I wanted. I don't see why I should be hounded about for being an illegitimate son of the Duke of Clarence."

Later, added the chief inspector, Mr. Haddon denied the charge, but admitted that he had made a petition to the King.

The prosecuting counsel intimated that it might be desirable to have a medical report.

Mr. Haddon arrived in Shanghai from London in November, 1924, to take up the post of clerk of works in H.M. Office of Works, Shanghai. He left Shanghai in December 1925.

23/5 307